

Cross-Generational Leadership

Engaging the Millennial Workforce

LIVE WEBINAR: Thursday, September 17TH

Being a manager is never easy; understanding the dynamics and motivations of different generations makes it that much harder! By 2025, the U.S. will have 4-5 generations in the workforce, all expecting the work environment and engagement they signed up for.

Why Attend?

- Leaders are struggling with finding ways to interact and engage..discovering "their way" isn't the only way with all the generations.
- Retaining the best talent, increasing productibility and growing profits are some of the biggest worries.
- Communication seems to be lost in translation - style and deliver are as important as the content.

Join us to learn:

- What causes the big swings in works styles, communication methods and behavior on the job.
- How choices you make in the workplace can improve engagement and moral.
- Why the best Leaders today are life-long learners of both industry news and personal skills.
