

A Brand Called YOU!

Building Your Personal Brand

LIVE WEBINAR: Wednesday, March 10th

Professional development is about a lot more than just skill, performance and a 'job well done.' It's also about YOU, your personal presence and your impact in the community. Standing out and highlighting your skills, your successes and your efforts can be a challenge. It's not enough to do a great job if no one knows. Developing a reputation – a personal 'brand' – is both an art AND a science.

Building your personal brand is more than delivering goals with excellence. Learn the components of turning "high performance" into "high visibility." Join us to learn the things that impact your professional presence, how and where to invest your energies, and the ways to stand out as you build your skill set.

During this webinar you will:

- Understand the components of your personal brand
- Learn what steps to take to build awareness in your company and the market
- Develop a personal branding strategy
